NYU Online

NYU Online was created especially for adult students who want to go back to college and earn their degrees through an online program that offers the same quality, rigor, and credentials as New York University’s highly acclaimed on-site programs. Our renowned faculty, dedicated administration, and support teams are committed to creating an online learning community that extends beyond the four walls of a classroom—one which respects and builds on the life experiences that adult students bring to their studies.

Our programs are flexible and designed specifically for working adults. Personal admissions and academic advisers are available to give you one-on-one guidance through every step of the enrollment process and to help you meet your educational and career goals.

At NYU Online, you experience a state-of-the-art online classroom that lets you learn on a schedule that suits your lifestyle. Real-time online meetings with advisers, instructors, and fellow students help turn your desktop into a classroom community.

A Unique Learning Experience

On our virtual campus, you join a supportive community of faculty, students, and technical support staff—all easily accessible through a simple but powerful online interface. All of our courses are designed specifically to be:

Student-centered. We provide individual attention, including one-on-one academic support and high levels of interaction with faculty and peers.

Interactive and engaging. Class delivery is a mix of self-study and real-time virtual classrooms with scheduling that ensures both flexibility and academic quality.

Easy to use. The interface is intuitive. Every element is clearly mapped out: At a glance, you know what courses you have registered for, your class requirements, and the courses you still need to take to meet degree requirements.

Community based. Students use the system to engage in lively discussions, visit “office hours” with advisers, share applications, view slide shows, surf the Internet with instructors and classmates, participate in live surveys and evaluations, attend special guest lectures.

An Outstanding Faculty

Critical to the success of our award-winning curriculum is a distinguished faculty of academic scholars and industry leaders. At NYU Online, you study with the same world-renowned experts available to students who attend class on campus.

NYU’s graduate and undergraduate faculty are second to none. All have made major contributions to their fields and come to class ready to share real-world experiences and insider knowledge with students.

Your professors, who represent a diverse cross-section of academic attainment and expertise in business and technology, shape your academic experience. They are leaders in their fields, as well as outstanding teachers who make their areas of specialization accessible to students through the online classroom. Our professors enjoy the challenge of the give-and-take dialogue that occurs with adults and are skilled as both classroom instructors and online facilitators. They know that our students have high expectations and are serious about learning.

Faculty are responsive to student needs and practice a cutting-edge, hands-on approach to online learning. In the virtual classroom, students have the same one-on-one interaction with their instructors as in a traditional classroom environment. Instructors are available outside of regular class meeting times for e-mail and online discussion, and our “virtual office hours” allow you to schedule real-time meetings with faculty through voice or text chat.

Academic Policies

All students enrolled in the associate's or bachelor's degree programs housed in NYU Online are subject to the academic policies of the School of Continuing and Professional Studies. These polices, may be viewed in the "undergraduate academic policies and procedures" section of this document.
